Join the one million happy drivers and riders!

TSO (the official publishers for the Driver and Vehicle Standards Agency, DVSA) and DVSA are delighted to announce that we've reached ONE MILLION downloads across the portfolio of official DVSA apps.

Gareth Llewellyn, CEO at DVSA, said:

We're delighted to have reached this landmark. The official DVSA apps are a great resource for a lifetime of safe driving, not just the test.

The official DVSA app range includes the Theory Test Kit, Hazard Perception Practice and The Official Highway Code, which all have a wealth of five-star reviews.

The Theory Test Kit has proved particularly popular: it's not only the number-one theory test app on the market but consistently ranks as the number-one paid-for app across all categories of the UK iTunes app chart.

So if you're planning to learn to drive this New Year, or just want to improve your driving or riding skills, then give the official DVSA apps a spin. A million people can't be wrong!
